

Investigating the Attribution of Intentions and Goals to Simple Animations by Children with Autism Spectrum Conditions (ASC)

Animations normalization questionnaire

15 short animations will be shown (some are repeated for clarity in the story line). Please watch the animations carefully, concentrating on the interactions between the actors, and describe the events on the appropriate subsection of this document. Please do rate the animation on expressiveness and movement speed as it will help improve the animations for the experiment.

Below you'll find the story tree used in the experiment. The text in the nodes indicates the label of the decision button. This button is pressed by the participant and the appropriate clip is the played.

Please rank this label on appropriateness and anthropomorphism level (how 'human' it sounds).

Constructive criticism and comments are strongly encouraged!

The collected information is for internal use only to improve the quality of the animations and likelihood of success of the final experiment.

None of the answers will be published in the final report of the experiment.

Thank you for your participation.
